

Take the first step on the road to college.

This spring, all 9th- and 10th-grade public school students in Colorado will have the opportunity to take the PSAT-related assessments.

The PSAT-related assessments prepare you for the SAT because all of the tests measure the same skills and knowledge in a way that's appropriate for different grade levels. All of the tests have the same question types and formats, and they reflect what you're already learning in school and what you need to know to succeed in college. You can use your results from the PSAT-related assessments to check in on where you stand on the road to college.

THE PSAT-RELATED ASSESSMENTS HELP YOU GET READY FOR COLLEGE:

Access Scholarships

The College Board's scholarship partners use the PSAT™ 10 to help find qualified students. Saying "yes" to Student Search Service® when you take the PSAT 10 will make it easy for them to find you.

Prep for the SAT® for free

Taking the PSAT-related assessments is great practice for the SAT and for college. Get familiar with the test format and access free, personalized SAT practice from Khan Academy® at satpractice.org.

Connect to advanced courses

Your score report will show advanced courses that are a great match for you, including AP®. Taking advanced courses can give you an edge in the admission process, as well as an opportunity to earn college credit while in high school. This lets you save money, study abroad, or take on a second major.

Students have the option to create a Khan Academy account and connect it to their College Board account for more personalized study recommendations based on their test scores. If students choose this option, their information will be used through a strict usage policy that protects their privacy and will not be used for commercial purposes.

The PSAT-related assessments are coming to your school on April 10, 11, or 12, 2018.

To learn more about the test, talk to your counselor or visit collegeboard.org.